The Computers in Education Society of Ireland invites you to a TeachMeet in Limerick Educate Together Secondary School, Limerick, 7pm-9pm, Friday, February 27th, 2026
The event is free and open to all educators, but registration is required

The first TeachMeet in Ireland was early 2008 on the eve of the CESI conference in Tallaght. It then became a popular annual fixture before each conference until 2020, when COVID-19 prevented it for some time. Thanks to the generosity of LETSS, our conference committee is delighted to resume the TeachMeet on the eve of the 2026 annual conference.

TeachMeet events have been running globally now for 20 years. Open, informal, and social in nature, they are organised by teacher for teachers so that peers can discuss, and exchange ideas for the classroom in a convivial atmosphere.

Who should attend a TeachMeet? Any teacher, student teacher, or teacher-educator who enjoys exchanging ideas with peers. It is a good change to catch up with colleagues, or meet new people who share your interests.

TeachMeet presentations. These are short (between 2 and 7 minutes), and presented in random order on the night; anyone can volunteer. There may be some short practical demonstrations on offer during the evening. Questions are invited, conversation is encouraged. There will be light refreshments on offer. There may even be prizes!

Registration. Use the link to register your intention to attend, or to volunteer to share a presentation or activity.
